

GEMÜ Group statement – Brexit preparations

2019-12-17

To all GEMÜ customers

As a company operating and manufacturing on a global scale, we are very well acquainted with the various customs requirements for third countries outside the EU. Furthermore, we have been intensively engaged with Brexit and its possible scenarios and have analyzed the impact on the GEMÜ Group.

GEMÜ neither manufactures in the United Kingdom, nor obtains any goods there.

Therefore, as it stands today, we are proceeding on the premise that, regardless of the manner in which the United Kingdom leaves the EU, there will be no discernible impact on the stability of our supply chain and thus no impact on our global supply availability.

In a work group together with our English sales company based in Warrington, we are following the political developments and public debate very closely, including the possible impact of general uncertainty surrounding the issue.

For our customers within the United Kingdom, as well as customers reliant on goods that are regulated as goods in transit, we have already adopted measures based on WTO regulations in order to ensure that the import of goods into the United Kingdom from Germany, the EU and other countries happens as smoothly as possible. Longer or more expensive transport times into the United Kingdom that may arise because of Brexit are a factor that lies beyond of our sphere of influence. We are of course also endeavouring to develop a suitable solution together with our customers.

Please speak to your sales contact person.

As a global company, we have maintained business relationships with countries outside the EU for many years and have extensive experience and stable organizational structures and procedures in order to fulfil regulations in areas such as customs and legal matters, movement of goods, transport and logistics.

If political debate should cause developments to take a different turn, we will re-evaluate the situation and provide you with more information at this point.

Yours faithfully,

Gert Müller
